GENERAL STATEMENT

—:O:—

Park College is situated at Parkville, Mo., a small town upon the left bank of the Missouri River, a few miles above Kansas City, on the Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs Railroad.

It was first opened in May 1875, as a training school for "Christian Workers." This does not mean ministers necessarily. To be sure, we are rejoiced and look upon it as a token of the Master's favor that so large a majority of our graduates turn to the ministry, yet we appreciate the good which a devoted layman, educated and filled with the Spirit, may accomplish. Hence our doors are open wide to all who will use an education for His glory. A well-trained, well-developed, and well-furnished manhood, within reach of youth who are without means to attend other institutions, is one of the objects of Park College. The West needs ministers and lay workers who, from a practical acquaintance with its needs, are fully in sympathy with it. The demand can best be supplied by a thorough education of the sons and daughters of the West itself, and with this end in view, Col. Geo. S. Park, of L'Ostant, Ill., gave lands and buildings for the establishment of Park College. For its support, the Church at large is called upon, and has been generous in its responses. While not under the control of any presbytery or synod, its teachings have always been Presbyterian in doctrine, and, in accordance with its charter a majority of its Trustees must be members of that denomination.

Its course is by no means academic, but embraces the studies usually taught in the classical courses of our Eastern colleges, and offers to the faithful, earnest student a most thorough discipline and preparation for the active, practical duties of life. Side by side with this distinctively intellectual training, and supplemented by it, must be placed the twice daily Bible exercise, for at Park College the Bible is studied as a text-book. In the morning by course, and in the afternoon topically, throughout the year, its teachings are lovingly and faithfully urged upon the attention, and God is greatly blessing this honoring of His Word.

Already three large dormitories have been erected, the students themselves doing most of the work. At the same time extensive farming operations are being carried on, all other departments fully kept up, and class duties are more faithfully performed each year than ever before.

So Park College has grown and is growing. Relying upon God who has so abundantly blessed us in the past, and plainly hearing his imperative command: "Go forward," we are hopefully and zealously "reaching forth unto the things that are before."

LIBRARY AND APPARATUS.

Though the College Library is only a beginning, it contains a large number of books which friends of the Institution have contributed. There is no distinctively Text Book department. However, Park College Family, which is closely connected with the College, has such a Library. From this the members of the Family are supplied. Other students, who are unable to make purchases, or who prefer are supplied with the books necessary for the pursuit of their studies, at a low rent. Any book placed in this Library will continue to do good for years. Many new books have been bought within the past year and old ones exchanged for new. The Cheever, Park and Bullard Literary Societies also have Libraries, which, though shall, contain a large number of standard and scientific works.

Chemical and Philosophical Laboratories are being slowly supplied with the apparatus necessary for use in illustration and experiment.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS.—PROF. G A KNAPP

The young men pursue the study of mathematics during six terms in the preparatory course and during five terms in the college course. The young ladies are required to complete Algebra, Geometry and Trigonometry. Surveying and Calculus are omitted from the young ladies' course, and Analytical Geometry is an optional study.

Special effort is made to develop keenness in the detection of fundamental principles and independence in their application. As one means of insuring thorough mastery of a subject, accuracy in calculation, keenness of discrimination and readiness in mathematical analysis, written reviews are held nearly every week and promiscuous problems are almost daily assigned from outside the textbook.

The classes in surveying give a considerable portion of the time to field work. The students thus acquire a familiarity with the use of the instruments used in surveying, and with the methods to which surveyors resort in difficult chaining and dividing land.

PUBLICATIONS.

The oldest and best known of these is the

PARK COLLEGE RECORD and CHRISTIAN WORKER.

It is a weekly record of the doings and state of Park College Family, and is sent to any one who is sufficiently interested in our work to send us his address. Its circulation is about thirteen thousand copies a week.

THE LITERARY MONTHLY

is the youngest of our periodicals, its first number having been issued in March, 1885. It is owned by Cheever and Park Literary Societies and edited by the Senior class, and is designed to promote the interests of the societies, and that part of the college department which is developed by society work.

SOCIETIES.

CHEEVER LITERARY SOCIETY.

This is the oldest literary organization in the Institution. Its sessions are held Friday evenings of each week during the scholastic year. The Literary exercises consists of a critique, oration by lady, declamation, descriptive and argumentative essays, oration by gentleman, music and debate or paper. By purchases made this year quite a number of useful volumes were added to our library, making the present number about 1500.

PARK LITERARY SOCIETY.

In 1877, a few years after the founding of the institution, Park Society was organized. It was named in honor of the Hon. Geo. S. Park, who is one of the most generous patrons of the Society. Regular sessions are held upon Friday evening of each week, during the scholastic year. In 1881 Col. Park founded the Park Library by a donation of valuable books. The library now contains about 1600 volumes. The society proposes to so vary and appoint the Literary and other exercises that each member may receive the discipline especially needed for his highest development.

BULLARD LITERARY SOCIETY.

This literary organization named in honor of Dr. Bullard of St. Joseph, is the youngest in Park College. During the scholastic year its regular meetings are held upon Friday evening of each week, till the second Friday in May. Literary exercises consist of declamations, essays, an oration, music and a debate or paper. The Society proposes to give its members some knowledge of literary work and of parliamentary practice. Its library contains Standard works on History, Fiction, Biography, Literature etc. New officers are installed at the beginning of each school term.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

THIS ASSOCIATION organized in 1881 has become an important factor in the religious life of the College. In the daily chapel services of the College the necessity of public prayer is made evident to us; and the best opportunity the young men have of taking this step is in the weekly prayer meetings of the Association and many there are who avail themselves of the privilege. The Association is in direct connection with the other Associations of the state, and takes a heartfelt interest in all that tends to develop spiritual life among young men.

The Association directs its efforts in three lines: the development of spiritual life among the students, the maintenance of interest in missionary work, and various prayer meetings and evangelical services in the vicinity of Parkville.

MARKS.

An examination grade of 75 per cent is required before a branch can be finally laid aside. Class grades will be kept, and failures in recitation will be subject to demerits. Deportment marks will also be kept, composed of demerits for unexcused tardiness or absence from any required duty, or for any irregularity in conduct. Ten demerits constitute a warning, and three warnings during the year forfeit the right to a place in our classes.

DAY PUPILS.

All pupils not belonging to either of the Families will be under the same rules during school hours, as the Family students.

Each student will be required to attend Sabbath School and at least one preaching service each Sabbath. The church to be attended is left to the choice of the pupil or parent.

Day pupils are expected to provide themselves with necessary books.

SOCIETIES.

A literary society has been formed for advanced students. All are classified in rhetorical classes under the supervision of the teachers.

PARK COLLEGE FAMILY

Park College is one thing. Park College Family is altogether a different thing. The College has grown out of the family work and most of the students attending the College and Academy are members of the Family, though the Family is no part of either, nor is it subject to the laws controlling or governing either.

The Family is really a private, personal undertaking, carried on by the President, his wife and their sons. The primary object of the Family organization and work is the development of Christian life, zeal and strength through the prayerful study of the Word of God, under the influence and teaching of the Holy Spirit; and, second, to afford an opportunity for preparation for active leadership by means of a full classical course of study, furnished by the Academy and College, and by daily, practical, helpful manual labor in some form, organized and superintended by the Family authorities. The Family gives great prominence to devotional Bible study, as the first, the chief means of moral and spiritual development. It makes obligatory upon each member of the Family the faithful and successful mastery of the full classical course, and graduation from Park College.

This Family is composed of three parts. No. 1 is devoted to College students. No. 2 to Academy students. The simple question of advancement in classical study makes the division. No. 3 is really a trial family and is composed of both College and Academy students.

The Family authorities are without property and without salary, depending wholly upon the Lord. The blessing of the Lord upon their labor, and upon the labor of the students on farms, gardens and pastures, and the gifts of God's people have given support for all years past, and upon these they depend for the future. Hence students wholly without means find hearty welcome to a home and share fully in all the privileges of the Family. But first, each applicant must either pay the expense of a trial in money or in extra work.

While, as far as practicable or possible, each student is expected to do that kind of work in which he can be most useful and successful, there is no effort to teach trades nor provide for the payment of either board or tuition by work. It is neither a manual labor school nor a self-supporting school. Those who would enter the College or Academy through the Family must do so through trial and covenant with the Family authorities
